Zagreb School of Economics and Management

The Zagreb School of Economics and Management is Croatia's best business school according to Eduniversal's global ranking. For many years, ZSEM has been educating Croatia's future economic and business experts and has become a center for thought and discussion on contemporary economic and business issues in Croatia. With more than 1,000 students and more than 2,800 alumni, ZSEM's community is continuously growing. Every major corporation and institution in Croatia has employed ZSEM graduates, while our alumni have also made their mark on society by becoming entrepreneurs and researchers.

ZSEM's faculty includes renowned professors, researchers, and experts from around the world. Often, our professors are featured in Croatia's national media and many lecturers hold senior posts in Croatia's top corporations and public institutions (Croatian National Bank, Croatian Telecom, Ericsson Nikola Tesla, etc.).

With more than 150 partner universities all over the world, many ZSEM students, including our graduate students, spend a semester abroad without paying additional tuition fees. Also, ZSEM welcomes more and more international exchange students every year and hosts an annual International Summer School.

In 2013, the Zagreb School of Economics and Management became an AACSB accredited business school, thus joining the elite group of 5% of the world's business schools that hold this prestigious accreditation.

Executive MBA Program

The Executive MBA Program is designed for professionals who wish to develop skills and knowledge of the General MBA Program and offers a unique possibility to study at weekends without neglecting professional and family commitments.

Modeled after some of the most successful programs in the world, the Executive MBA Program is an interdisciplinary program that includes key courses from all graduate ZSEM MBA programs. The main purpose of the program is to provide students with top quality courses in the fields of marketing, management, finances, and accounting, through an exceptional combination of theoretical and practical knowledge.

ZSEM lecturers are leading experts from Croatia and around the world, with outstanding scientific and research contributions. The program is designed to provoke thinking about current and future challenges in management and the business world.

Student leadership skills are developed through multiple dimensions, which include developing strategy, operations, organizational behavior and leading an ethical enterprise.

Through a practical project carried out during their studies, students concurrently develop their skills and knowledge, their professional careers, and contribute to their organizations. After attaining a theoretical education and practicing the acquired skills in their organizations, students will be capable of leading any organization efficiently. Leading teaching methods includes numerous simulations, which allows students to develop analytical skills, test their decision-making skills, and observe consequences of their actions.

While improving their interdisciplinary skills and knowledge, students will also enlarge their social capital and extend their network of experienced professionals.

Contents and Structure of the Program

The program consists of two parts: compulsory courses and writing the graduate thesis. The compulsory coursework is designed like a classical MBA program. A unique advantage of this program is an opportunity to conduct a practical project during the preparation of the graduate thesis. Students can conduct this practical project in their companies. A particular dynamic of this program is achieved through a combination of 50% of lectures and 50% of learning being carried out through group assignments and projects over the e-learning internet platform. This unique hybrid approach gives students ample time for professional and family commitments.

In each 8-week mini-semester, students will complete 2 courses. Lectures are held on:

- Fridays from 17:00 to 21:00 and Saturdays from 9:00 to 13:00 for "course 1"
- Saturdays from 14:00 to 18:00 for "course 2"

Introductory Semester

Many of the candidates find themselves wishing to enroll into MBA programs, due to professional or private reasons, while they do not possess an undergraduate degree in business or economics. Those candidates can still enroll, however, before the commencement of their MBA classes, they must attend an introductory semester in which they must attend the courses from the areas of economics, marketing, business and finance, management and accounting.

By attending the classes and passing exams in those fields, the candidates will get acquainted to the field of economics and will be ready to continue with their MBA courses afterwards.

The introductory semester starts in January every year and lasts until the end of February, at which point the MBA classes start. The introductory semester starts in January every year and lasts until the end of February.

„ZSEM students have both the necessary technical knowledge as well as thorough understanding of latest developments in the global economy and business. This makes them well prepared to take on leadership roles in corporations and public sector, both in Croatia and abroad.“

Milos Starovic,
Bank of America

„To address some of the items of interest to you, we can say that upon the recommendation of some of our Croatian colleagues we started researching ZSEM. We were impressed by the level of information available on the website. This gave a clear indication of the quality and relevance of the programs and seemed to be perfect for our departments here at Morgan Stanley. We were also delighted with the organization within ZSEM, the Career Center and staff who were extremely approachable, which made the whole visit much easier to organize.“
